

COASTAL RESOURCES MANAGEMENT COUNCIL

Pre-Application Meeting

Date: _____

The Pre-Application meeting process is intended to facilitate application submittals for large scale projects (Industrial; Commercial; Subdivisions). Pre-Application meetings help both the applicant and the CRMC staff better understand the parameters and regulatory issues associated with proposed projects.

Thank you for your interest in meeting with agency staff to discuss your potential project relative to the rules and regulations of the Rhode Island Coastal Resources Management Program (RICRMP). We very much appreciate your willingness to engage in a discussion at the beginning of your project so as to better understand the coastal management issues that may present themselves during the project review and ahead of any significant investments of your time, energy and other resources.

Please be aware however that while we are prepared to discuss and offer guidance, suggestions and even opinions on your project in respect of the management of the RICRMP, our input is limited and confined to the particular facts as they have been represented today.

Should any of the facts on which we are basing our guidance change, (i.e.: site inspection reveals plan inaccuracies; review of previous applications for the site shows discrepancies in representations; review of enforcement file shows previous site histories; etc...) this may result in different outcome(s) being made when the final application submission is complete.

Additionally, and if you prefer, we offer a Preliminary Determination report – a more formal and written narrative that will provide you with a discussion of the merits of your proposed project in respect to the management of the RICRMP.
